

Dear Crossroads Family,

Thanks to all of you who came to be a part of “Back to Church” Sunday at Crossroads. We had a wonderful time together studying God’s word and worshipping the Lord. We missed those of you who could not participate. I hope you will make every effort to be in Sunday school and worship this week.

Thanks also to those who brought food or diapers for our monthly drive. We had excellent participation. The red bins were quite full, enabling us to share and be ready for those who might come to us for assistance. I am always amazed at your generosity and support of the ministries of Crossroads.

It isn’t only your church attendance that matters at this time of year. Summer giving tends to dip a little, probably because people are traveling and away from church occasionally. For this reason, Fall giving is extremely important as we try to catch up from any lack during the Summer. Let me encourage you to give generously and cheerfully to the best of your ability in the weeks ahead so we can be pleasing to God in this area of our lives and fully fund the ministries of Crossroads.

This Sunday’s Bible study and message will address the important role the Spirit of God in us plays in helping us hear and understand God’s word and will. I hope you will be present to learn more about how God speaks through His Holy Spirit.

Love,
Bro. Doug

A Few Announcements:

Crossroads Annual Harvest Fest is scheduled for Saturday, October 31, from 4:00-7:00 pm. Donations of candy can be brought and placed in the collection bins provided. Sign-ups for Trunk-or-Treat participants and other volunteer needs will begin the first Sunday in October.

Next Sunday we will be having our observance of the Lord’s Supper. Please try to be in attendance for this special time.

Ladies, You are Invited! The Women of Prayer Luncheon is scheduled for Monday, September 28, from 11:00 am to 1:00 pm at the home of Kim Beckman (6642 Huebner). Due to limited parking, please try to carpool with a friend. The guest speaker will be Paula Barnds, who will have you guessing: “Do You ___?” When you RSVP, you will be asked to bring a suggested item from a list. RSVP to Gail Anderson at 210.863.5254.
